Study Day

The Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy of Borderline Patients

As well as addressing questions of psychotherapy, the study day will also deal with the approach to patients with severe personality disorders and to their families by concerned, non-clinically trained professionals such as priests and educators.

Participation in the study day is reserved to students and alumni of the Institute of Psychology and of the "Istituto Superiore per Formatori"

The proceedings will be conducted partly in Italian and partly in English with simultaneous translation into Italian.

All the participants at the study-day will be provided with work material and a certificate of attendance. Contributions towards expenses will be welcome.

For organizational reasons we ask you kindly to confirm your attendance before 28 February 2009 via e-mail: psicologia@unigre.it
